S. B. 94—To amend the corporation act of the city of Harrisburg passed without dissent.

H. B. 116—Substitute for H. B. 63, to amend the city charter of Portland.

Mr. CORNELL was opposed to some of the features of the bill as to the manner of appointment of Police Judge. This was one of the highest and most responsible offices, and one, I believe, the people would prefer to have control of, instead of referring the appointment of it to any other authority. He was also opposed to legislating the Police Judge out of office. Nor could he see the propriety of vesting the appointing power in Commissioners, who had not or might not have any interest in Portland. It was taking away from the people a power that belonged to them. It is a step toward centralization. The people claim, and ought to have right to elect their own officers. The people themselves, who were more interested in having good officers, ought to elect them. He believed this bill would be objectionable to the people of Portland. It is a step in the wrong direction. It is equivalent to saying that the people of the city are incapable of self-government.

Mr. GEARIN did not [illegible] with the gentleman (Mr. Cornell) in thinking this bill would not meet the wishes of the people of Portland. It is true some people oppose it, but they do so upon personal and interested matters. At the last election in Multnomah county the Independent candidates went before the people on this very issue, and for the first time in years, a ticket opposed to the Republicans was elected. This seemed to him conclusive evidence upon the question whether the people would endorse this bill or not. No man who had witnessed the manner in which the Chief of Police and Police Judge but was thoroughly disgusted at the manner in which it was done. They are elected by a mob. It is the roughs and hoodlums who are opposed to having these officers appointed. It had the universal history of cities that they could not govern themselves in the matter of the election of Chief of Police and Police Judge. To satisfy those who objected to legislating the Police Judge out of office, he was willing an amendment should be made allowing that officer to hold until July 1st. The object of the clause providing that the bill should go into effect upon approval, was to get rid of the enormous fees which the city, under the present law, has to pay. He did not at all condemn the officers for taking those fees, because under the law, they are entitled to them. But the city was paying the Police Judge from eight to ten thousand dollars per annum, and the Chief of Police from five to six thousand, and he desired to relieve them from that burden as soon as possible.

Mr. PARTLOW—Not being a citizen of Multnomah county, nor a tax payer there, I shall be governed by what I consider to be the wishes of the people of that county. I am in favor of this bill rather than the present law.

Mr. CORNELL obtained unanimous consent to introduce an amendment embodying the suggestion of Mr. GEARIN relative to the time when the Police Judge should vacate his office.

Mr. JOHNSON thought the proposed plan of appointing not so bad as for the Governor to appoint all of them, though he considered the plan of dividing up the responsibility between different persons was objectionable. He moved to amend by vesting the appointing power in the City Council.

Mr. ROE objected. He said he was satisfied the bill just as it is came nearer meeting the wishes of the people of Portland than any other measure which was proposed, and he should support it.

Mr. McCLUNG said he would like to vote for this bill, and would do so if the amendment of the gentleman from Multnomah (Mr. Johnson) was accepted. That would obviate the principal objection to the measure. The House would readily perceive that this bill was drawn so as to place the appointing power in the hands of a particular party. The Circuit Judge of that district and the Mayor of the city were both Independents, and would appoint a majority of the Board. He could not support the bill unless the amendment was accepted.

Mr. FLORENCE had always been opposed to the present method of appointment, because he considered it anti-Republican. He thought the people were certainly capable of governing themselves, and any law which confers the power of appointing these Commissioners upon any other person was a dangerous precedent. He should vote against the bill, though he thought it probably better than the present law.

Mr. MAYS—While I intend to vote for this bill I do it with the greatest reluctance. I regard the people of Portland as being in every way capable of governing themselves, and although I shall not ask my protest to be spread upon the journal, yet I do protest in the presence of this House. He voted for the bill only because he believed the people demanded it, and it was an improvement upon the present plan.

Mr. FIDLER voted for the bill because he wanted to spike the biggest gun of the opposition against the Democratic party in this State.

Mr. BRADSHAW voted for it for similar reasons.

The question "Shall the bill pass?" was put with the following result:

Yeas—Blake, Bradshaw, Brown, Bruce, Butler, Chandler, Chambers, Crawford, Curl, Doak, Dufur, Dully, Fidler, Galloway, Gearin, Gilbert, Hays, Jackson, Johnson, Kelly of Benton, Lee, Ledgerwood, Mays, Matlock, Mathieu, McGugin, Noyer, Partlow, Plymale, Reed of Clackamas, Reed of Marion, Riddle, Rinearson, Roe, Shedd, Shelton, Stannard, Stearns, [illegible], Stott, Stump, Van Riper, Wasson, Wilson, Wright of Jackson, Wright of Union, Mr. Speaker—44.

Nays—Cornell, Cranston, Darst, Dean, Florence, Kelly of Multnomah, [illegible], Laughlin, McClung, Ross, Scott and Simpson—12.

H. B. 1—To establish the fees of officers, was, on motion of Mr. BRADSHAW, laid on the table.

H. B. 7—Concerning fees of Clerks and Sheriffs, was, on motion of Mr. GALLOWAY, laid on the table.

H. B. 66—to amend section 9 of chapter 30 of miscellaneous laws reducing salary of Librarian to $300, passed, 31 to 26.

H. B. 75—to amend section 1,056 of chapter 15 of the civil code relative to the duties of administrators and executors; passed, 53 to 2.

H. B. 84—to repeal section 111 of chapter 11, and section 120 of chapter 12 of the Justices code; passed, 51 to 5.

H. B. 86—to amend sections 4, 5 and 6 of title 1, chapter 4 of general laws; failed to pass.

H. B. 90—to amend the law relative to criminal jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace; failed to pass.

H. B. 91—relative to civil jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace; failed to pass.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

Mr. GALLOWAY moved to take from the table H. B. 104, to provide for the election of Superintendent of Penitentiary, which motion prevailed, and the bill was referred to a special committee of three with leave to report at any time. The Speaker appointed as such committee Messrs. Galloway, [illegible] of Marion, and Gearin.

A message informed the House that the Senate had passed S. B. 103 to create a commission from Grant and Baker counties to establish an initial point to find the boundary line between Grant and Baker counties. Also a commission from Baker and Union counties to designate which fork of the North Fork of Powder river should be the boundary between Baker and Union counties.

On motion of Mr. REED, the rules were suspended and the bill read first and second time by title, and, on motion of Mr. NOYER, the rules were further suspended and the bill read third time and passed.

Mr. STANNARD, from the Committee on Engrossed Bills, reported back H. B. 68, 75, 84, 86, 99, 115, as correctly engrossed, and H. B. 7 as not needing engrossment.

The House adjourned.

Afternoon Session.

The House resumed at half-past 1.

The report of the Joint Committee on the Insane Asylum, recommending Dr. Hawthorne's offer to keep and take the insane at the rate of six dollars per patient per week as the most reasonable and practicable, was read and laid on the table pending the reading of the bill on the subject.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

On motion of Mr. BRADSHAW, a joint memorial to Congress was adopted, asking that the mining claims act passed last May be so amended that ten instead of a hundred dollars' worth of labor for every hundred feet of claim be required to give title in five years.

Mr. FIDLER introduced and moved the adoption of the following joint petition to Congress relative to the treaty with China:

We, your petitioners, the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, would respectfully represent that the existing treaty with the Government of China, known as the Burlingame treaty, works a great hardship upon the people of Oregon as well as upon the people of the entire Pacific coast, within the limits of the United States, in that it forces upon us an objectionable population, who have no sympathy with our institutions, no interest in the permanent welfare of the country, no identity of feeling or purpose in common with American citizens, but who, on the contrary, have the direct effect of crowding out the very people whom we so much need to build up a lasting prosperity for our extreme Western States by bringing into competition with the cheap labor of pagan and densely populated Asia. The griefs of which we complain have long proved a bane and detriment to our mining interests, exhausting and sending abroad the more valuable mineral resources of the State without contributing in the way of taxation a reasonable proportion toward defraying the general expenses of the commonwealth, and after working an irreparable injury to the mining counties is now preparing similar disastrous results for our farming and manufacturing communities.

To relieve our State from the hardship complained of we respectfully, yet earnestly, petition your honorable body for the amendment or abrogation of the aforesaid Burlingame treaty, and the restoration to the State of the right to protect the interests of its more permanent inhabitants.

The memorial was adopted by 49 to 7. The nays were Cranston, Laughlin, Lee, Mays, Riddle, Ross and Stearns.

Mr. WILSON introduced a petition from Gilbert Reynolds, praying for what the petitioner termed a bran new hearing in the Grant county contest.

A motion to indefinitely postpone was voted down, whereupon motions were made to lay on the table, to lay under the table, to refer to the reporters, to refer to the Third House, to make the special order for Saturday at 9 P. M. Ultimately the petition was indefinitely postponed without being read.

Mr. WASSON introduced a petition asking the Legislature to sever the connection between the M. E. Conference and the Board of Trustees of the Santiam Academy, so as to vest the entire management in the Board of Trustees. Referred to the Committee on Education.

Mr. STANNARD presented a petition signed by about 60 persons, asking for a law prohibiting all secular labor on Sunday, excepting that of necessity and mercy. Referred to the Education Committee.

Mr. STEARNS moved the adoption of a joint resolution asking the Senators and Representatives of the State in Congress to use their influence to obtain an appropriation of $10,000 from Congress, to complete a military and postal road between Drain postoffice and the mouth of Elk creek. Said survey to commence on the Elk Creek bridge on the Scottsburg road, and extend eight miles up Elk creek in Douglas county. The resolution was adopted.

On motion of Mr. CHAMBERS, a joint memorial was adopted in favor of an appropriation to survey and buoy Alsea bay, in Benton county.

On motion of Mr. RIDDLE, a joint memorial was adopted in favor of an appropriation by Congress for a lighthouse at the mouth of the Umpqua river, and buoys at or near the bar thereof, and as far up as Gardiner City.

THE STATE CAPITOL.

The three members of the Building Committee reported individually on the bill for the construction of the State Capitol.

Mr. REED, of Marion, reported in favor of amending the bill as follows:

First—Instead of an appropriation of $110,000, it should [illegible] one mill of all the taxable property of the State.

Second—That instead of appropriating funds for immediate use out of the soldiers' bounty and relief funds, there be appropriated the money arising from the one mill tax of the said fund.

Third—That the Commissioners give bonds in the sum of $[illegible].

Mr. BRUCE reported a substitute bill, appropriating $6,000 to level up and cover the walls of the building, and to paint the joints and other timbers with coal tar.

Mr. WRIGHT, of Union, reported in favor of an appropriation of $37,500, of which $6,000 should be appropriated immediately to cover up the building and paint the timbers with coal tar, and every six months thereafter the sum of $10,500 until the full sum of $37,500 be transferred.

Motions were made to adopt each report. The SPEAKER ruled that the question in order was on the adoption of the report first presented.

Mr. REED, of Marion, explained that his report did not recommend additional taxation, but proposed to transfer from the bounty funds a tax that was already levied. The sum raised would be about $85,000, which, with the penitentiary labor, was believed to be sufficient to complete the building to the extent mentioned in the bill. He was assured by the architects that they were willing to enter into bonds to finish the work in accordance with the bill on or before Sept. 1, 1876.

Mr. BROWN spoke in support of Mr. Bruce's report.

Mr. BRUCE said he presented the report he did because the State was poor. He did not think it wise to expend a vast sum on a grand State Capitol when there were bare-footed children and destitute families in nearly every county in Oregon. He characterized Salem as a city of elephants, and the State Capitol as an elephant big enough to hold all the others. [Laughter.]

Mr. BRADSHAW said Benton county had always been opposed to improvement, and he was not, therefore, surprised at the position taken by the gentleman from that section, (Bruce) but he would require better evidence than the mere declaration of that gentleman to make him believe that there was a man, woman or child who was suffering from want in Oregon to-day. He made a powerful speech in favor of Mr. Reed's report, and spoke of the other recommendations as being nothing short of a proposal to paint the building with a shroud of coal tar.

Mr. MAYS said he came from a section (Wasco) where taxation pressed heavily upon the people. The people there wanted relief from their burdens, and were certainly opposed to having these burdens increased. He should therefore vote for Mr. Bruce's report. It was all very well to say that the building could be partially completed for about $100,000, but members must not forget that the building would have to be furnished, and that it would take a good deal to run it.

Mr. WRIGHT, of Union, explained that under his scheme the building could be finished in five, ten or twenty years, as the people might feel disposed. Capital buildings were not to be constructed in Oregon any more than in other States in four years.

Mr. CRANSTON produced documentary evidence to satisfy the House, that the building was being erected on land to which the State has a perfect title, and made a speech in favor of the report of Mr. Reed.

Mr. DUFUR said members might contradict the statement that there was destitution in Oregon, but he was satisfied that there was a large proportion of the medium tax payers who were greatly reduced in the matter of the necessaries of life, and this was the very class that was building up the State; the very class that paid State and county, and road, and school tax; the very class that would have to pay that additional mill on the dollar. He held that it would be most injudicious at present to proceed with the construction of a State Capitol in Oregon that would adorn a State like Pennsylvania, and submitted that if Oregon had money to spare it ought to devote it to more necessary and urgent improvements than that to which attention was being directed.

Mr. FIDLER said the State was bound in honor to provide suitable accommodations for her representatives, and he [illegible] the Commissioners were influenced to commence the Capitol on a large scale because of weight brought to bear upon them by numerous wealthy and responsible citizens.

Mr. LEE replied that the State was bound to do many things, but it was especially bound to live within its means. They were stepping outside the bounds of economy and common sense when they sought to erect in Oregon a building that would accommodate the Congress of the United States.

Mr. PLYMALE asked if members were willing to go back to their constituents and allow a structure on which $123,000 had already been expended, to crumble into dust? He, for one, was not willing to willing to take that responsibility. He held that they were in duty bound to make such an appropriation as would put the building in a condition for occupancy two years hence. If they accepted either of the smaller appropriations they would be in no better condition than they were now.

Mr. STANNARD offered an amendment to the effect that the contract for the building be let to the lowest responsible bidder, who shall give bonds in not less than $50,000; provided, that such contract and the expenses incurred in the prosecution of the work shall not exceed the appropriation herein provided.

Mr. REED, of Marion, expressed his willingness to accept this amendment.

Mr. SHELTON said he should stand by Mr. Wright's proposition. He was a member of the last Legislature, and voted for the appropriation, that was then made on account of an argument that was used that the Capitol would be ready for the use of the present Legislature.

M. RIDDLE made a similar statement.

Mr. DRAIN (Mr. Fidler in the Chair) made a speech, favoring the proposition to cover up the building at a cost of $6,000.

Mr. REED, of Marion, replied on the debate.

A motion to adjourn was then voted down.

Mr. JACKSON next spoke in favor of covering up, and Mr. RINEARSON in favor of partial completion.

Another motion to adjourn was voted down.

The House then divided on the motion to adopt the report of Mr. Reed, of Marion, the vote resulting as follows:

Yeas—Blake, Bradshaw, Chandler, Cornell, Crawford, Cranston, Darst, Doak, Dully, Fidler, Galloway, Gilbert, Hayes, Jackson, Johnson, Kelly of Multnomah, Laine, Laughlin, Ledgerwood, Matlock, Mathieu, McGugin, McClung, Noyer, Plymale, Reed of Clackamas, Reed of Marion, Rinearson, Roe, Scott, Shedd, Simpson, Stannard, VanRiper, Wasson, Wilson, Wright of Jackson—37.

Nays—Brown, Bruce, Butler, Chambers, Curl, Dean, Dufur, Florence, Kelly of Benton, Lee, Mays, Partlow, Riddle, Ross, Shelton, Stearns, Steen, Stump, Wright of Union—19.

Absent—Gearin, Jewett, Stott, Mr. Speaker—4.

So the report was adopted.

On motion of Mr. REED, of Marion, the bill as amended was ordered engrossed for third reading at 10 A. M. to-morrow.

House adjourned at 5:10 P. M. till to-morrow, Wednesday morning, at 8 A. M.

BLANCHE BUTLER.—The one redeeming soft spot in General Butler's life is his love for his only daughter, Blanche, now the wife of Governor Ames, of Mississippi. The General, every one acknowledges, is fearfully ugly, and his wife, who was an actress years ago, is equally plain. How from this union such an exquisite, dainty, lovable maiden as Blanche Butler could have sprung will always remain wrapped among mysteries. I very well remember hearing the praises which were sung at her debut. She was educated at the Georgetown Convent, and after her graduation, she made a protested appearance in the gay society of the Capital. "I don't want to go into society," she said to a friend; "it does not suit me. I would much prefer staying quietly at home." And this remark, made at her first party, where she was surrounded by hosts of eager admirers. Her dress on this occasion won universal applause from its charming simplicity. It was white silk illusion, light and fluffy as sea foam, and embroidered with pale green ferns. Her only ornaments, pearls. She must have looked like Undine, after her soul came to her, with her fresh, fair complexion, chased with faint blushes; her tall, slender figure; her pure soft blue eyes; her sweet mouth, with its winning smile, and her "woman's crown of glory" in wealth of red golden hair, such as Titian loved to paint in his Madonnas! I saw her first at some morning reception, as the newly married bride of Senator Ames, and I followed in the wake of her footsteps like one enchanted with her gentleness and beauty. She wore a heavy silk calling suit, of two rare shades of blue; ermine furs, and white uncut velvet plumes. As she came in from the winter storm raging without, I thought what a lovely embodiment of the "Spirit of the Snow" she looked! Everybody loved gentle Blanche Butler, even those who hated her father the most; and I hear that in her Southern home she wins the same affection from all, no matter what political grounds they stand on.—Washington Letter to Cincinnati Gazette.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

SALEM, October 20, 1874.

Forest Grove, Brownsville, and a score of smaller towns will be happy for a brief season. They have been incorporated. It is fortunate that the Legislature attended to these matters promptly, and gratifying to know that in most instances they passed by unanimous vote.

PROTECTION OF SALMON.

The Senate yesterday passed the bill for the protection of salmon in Columbia river. This bill provides that no salmon shall be taken between 6 o'clock Saturday night and 6 o'clock Monday morning. Its other provisions may not be as stringent as they should be, but it is a good beginning. A joint resolution instructing our Senators and Representatives in Congress to [illegible] for the passage of certain laws regulating fisheries was also adopted.

ADJOURNMENT.

When Mr. Bristow offered a joint resolution to the effect that no new bills should be introduced after 6 o'clock [illegible], Mr. Cornelius moved to amend by adding "and that the two Houses shall adjourn sine die on Friday night at 9 o'clock." Webster amended by saying 12 o'clock, and the resolution was discussed with considerable vigor. Senator Myers and others were unwilling to fix a day for adjournment until the General Appropriation Bill had been reported, and reports had been received from the investigating committees. The Senate voted the amendments down, refusing to name Saturday, even, and ultimately the whole resolution was defeated.

In the course of this discussion Senators Myers and Cornelius took issue on the question whether or not the Constitution limits the session to forty days. The Senator from Clackamas argued that Sundays should not be counted in the forty days, and the Senator from Washington held that they should, and that it was customary and legal so to do. Being challenged on this point he gave as his authority "The United States of America," and Mr. Owens asked him what section it could be found in.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Engle's resolution submitting an amendment to the Constitution of the State conferring the right of suffrage on women, was defeated amid a general and very broad smile, by a vote of 17 to 12. This is the last of the subject for this session, I presume.

RELIEF OF AN OLD PIONEER.

Senator Watson introduced a resolution for the relief of Jesse Applegate, one of S. E. May's bondsmen. It provides that the record of the second judgment of $1,522 09 be canceled, and that the Secretary of State enter against the record, "Satisfied." The resolution recites the circumstances of the case, and declares that this judgment embarrasses the defendants in their efforts to gain a livelihood. Mr. Watson advocated the [illegible] of the resolution in a short speech in which he said that if Mr. Applegate were compelled to pay the amount of this second judgment he would be bankrupt. He briefly sketched the life and public services of Jesse Applegate, who had, he said, "performed more public service, and for less pay, than any man that had ever lived in Oregon." The resolution [illegible] to the Committee on Claims.

RECREATION.

At the evening [illegible] the Senators drew lots for the long and short term. The resolution under which this [illegible] business was done was a very elaborate affair.

The President of the Senate placed in a box the names of the Senators from Benton, Linn, Marion, Yamhill, Multnomah, Clackamas and Douglas, and drew with averted face. The result of the drawing is as follows: I give first the names of the Senators whose terms expire in 1878, and second the names of the Senators whose terms expire in 1876:

SENATORS FOR THE LONG TERM.

Braly, Clark, Cochran, Engle, Goodman, Herrin, Jewell, Lee, Munkers, Offield, Richardson, Savage, Smith, VanCleave, and Wisdom—15.

SENATORS FOR THE SHORT TERM.

Barnes, Bristow, Cornelius, Crystal, Dolph, Haley, Hanna, Hirsch, Myers, Owens, Tolin, Townsend, Watson, Webster and Witham—15.

THEIR POLITICS.

Of the Senators whose terms expire in 1876, seven are Republicans: Cornelius, Dolph, Hanna, Hirsch, Watson, Webster and Witham. Four are Democrats: Townsend, Myers, Haley and Tolin. Four are Independents: Barnes, Bristow, Crystal and Owens.

Of the Senators whose terms expire in 1878, nine are Democrats: Braly, Clark, Cochran, Herren, Munkers, Offield, Savage, VanCleave, and Wisdom. Four are Republicans: Engle, Lee, Richardson and Smith. Two are Independents: Goodman, of Linn, and Jewell of Umatilla.

REPRESENTATIVE FOR CLATSOP.

The Senate considered, last evening, a bill redistricting the State. The only change it makes in the existing law is to give to Clatsop one Representative, and to Columbia, Clatsop and Tillamook a Representative, one jointly.

THE TERRITORIES.

Seventy-five cents buys a bushel of peaches in Corinne.

The new bell for St. Peter's Chapel has arrived at Tacoma from the East.

Last month 3,450,000 pounds of bullion was forwarded over the Utah Central road.

Stone masons and bricklayers command from $7 to $9 a day in Helena, and are scarce at that.

Fat cattle, fresh from the green pastures of Sevier valley, are only worth four cents per pound in Salt Lake.

The Sharpstein torchlight procession at Olympia, consisted of six men, Gen. Miller, John Murphy, J. P. Judson and thirty-three other boys. So says the Courier.

Walla Walla county now has five candidates in the field for the office of Sheriff, and three for Auditor. Messrs. McAuliff and W. F. Gwinn are out for Sheriff, running independent of all organizations, and likewise B. Jacobs for Auditor.

The Helena Herald of the 8th inst. says: "Mr. Sam. Ford, down from the north, reports an affray at a ranch on the South Fork of [illegible] in which two Indians were shot and killed by two white men. Whisky was the cause of the 'unpleasantness.'"

The Territorial Democratic Convention for Idaho Territory had, on last Monday, been in session at Boise City eight days, and up to that time had failed to nominate a candidate for Delegate to Congress. The contest is between Mr. Foote and Mr. Ensign, who on the last 33 ballots, received 14 votes each.

The publishers of the Montana Herald offer a reward of $250 for the detection and arrest of the person or persons guilty of the Meagher county election return forgery, by which the electors of that county and of the Territory were defrauded of their honest verdict on the Capital Law, declared at the election held August 3, 1874.

The Democrats and Independent Republicans of Colorado won a victory at the recent election, but they appear to fear that the vote canvassers mean to cheat them out of said victory by making a wrong count of the votes and giving the certificate to the Administration candidate for delegate to Congress, in which case the Denver Democrat and News advise the cultivation of cottonwood trees, i. e., doing a little hanging.

A man was in Walla Walla the other day, who says that some weeks since a threshing machine and a lot of grain was burned up, and that the neighbors, unjustly suspecting him of the arson, confiscated and sold his wagon and team of four horses, besides taking a large amount of money from him. He now says he is going after them for damages, and thinks $20,000 about the right figure for them to "potlatch."

In accordance with arrangements previously made at a meeting of the people of Snohomish county, held in Snohomish City, W. T., Sept. 14, a fair was held in Snohomish City on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 1st and 2d. About 500 separate entries were made. Over 100 entries of needle and fancy work, pictures, &c., were exhibited by the ladies, and some 350 separate entries of fruits and vegetables were made by the citizens of the community. Owing to the impromptu nature of the exhibition, no effort was made to secure a showing of stock, though some very fine animals were exhibited.

The Stage Company some time ago awarded a contract for furnishing 3,000 bushels of oats to G. Karewski, of Jacksonville, at nearly 25 cents a bushel. Thomas McAndrew furnished Cole's station with 3,000 [illegible] at about 80 cents per bushel.

The Jacksonville Sentinel says: "From early morn till dewy eve is heard the sound of saw and hammer and the ring of trowel, mingled with the shouts of 'mort' and 'brick' from the numerous buildings now in course of construction. They are rapidly [illegible] and all will soon be [illegible]."

Some few days since, at La G[illegible], [illegible] Horsepool's little girl, [illegible] two [illegible] was playing in the kitchen where her mother was engaged in scrubbing, having in use a tub of boiling water. The little girl, [illegible] her mother's back was turned, accidentally fell backward into the tub and was severely scalded.

The Times learns that many Jackson county farmers intend hauling their produce to Roseburg for sale, and says: "This is a capital idea, providing they can make it profitable. Produce is so abundant here that it is difficult to sell it at almost any price for cash, which in a great measure accounts for this movement on the part of our farmers."

A letter from Baker City says: "Money market dull as it has been for months past, and we do not expect much improvement in this particular until spring. There is much sickness in the city, there being no less than six critical cases in our little town at present; one, an old gentleman by the name of Clark, went to his last resting place to-d[illegible]."

Major Cornoyer, [illegible] at Umatilla tells of a supposed case of poisoning of two squaws. An old Indian and two squaws started from this place to the Agency, and camped near the Walla Walla river. The La Grande Sentinel says: "On Tuesday morning, Rev. Daniel Ellege got in the stage at Summerville, to go to the Summit House, kept by his son, Thomas Ellege, on the new road across the Blue Mountains. While ascending the grade, by some means the stage was upset and the horses started to run, but soon brought up against a tree, breaking the tongue of the stage and otherwise doing considerable damage. News was at once sent back for Mrs. Ellege that Mr. Ellege was very dangerously hurt, since which our informant had heard nothing further in regard to the matter.

At the annual [illegible] Coast Synod of the Cumberland [illegible] Church held in San Francisco [illegible] Presbyteries of Oregon [illegible] but a communication [illegible] the Oregon Presbytery [illegible] of a new Presbytery [illegible] Oregon east of the [illegible] whole of Washington [illegible] was no opposition to [illegible] several of the members [illegible] cation a little out of order. [illegible] was finally settled by a resolution introduced by Rev. W. H. Tubb, to the effect that the request to organize a new Presbytery, to be called Cascade, be granted and [illegible] Referred to the Committee on Bills and [illegible]. The following Committee was appointed to examine and report the condition of the minutes of the Oregon, Willamette, and Sacramento Presbyteries: Rev. W. H. Tubb and Elders Battorff and Bradley.

UNDERGROUND COMBUSTION OF COAL.—Pittsburg is doomed, or the Cleveland Leader is endeavoring to unnecessarily alarm the good people of that smoky city. In a recent issue it tells of a dangerous fire that has been working its way along [illegible] for several months, and says: "While a street was being opened last winter, the laborers ran upon a vein of coal, out of which they soon built a fire to protect themselves from the intense cold. As they neglected to extinguish it, it continued to burn, and has extended into the hillside, cracking the surface for some feet, and now bids fair to become unmanageable. Unless it is speedily checked, it is feared that it will penetrate in [illegible] to a point below a reservoir containing 10,000,000 gallons of water, [illegible] through in case any of the sub-structure should be [illegible] away. So Pittsburg, by having too much coal, is threatened by a subterranean fire or a reservoir bursting, or both, unless measures are speedily taken to check the fire."

A GREAT RAILROAD

We have received an octavo volume of 240 pages, being the Report of a Committee appointed at the stockholders' meeting held in March last to investig[illegible] into the condition of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company It is a most exhaustive examination into the workings of one of the great—or the greatest—railroad corporations in the world, and is interesting in showing how from small beginnings to what stupendous proportions the railroad interest of the United States has grown

The Pennsylvania Railroad was completed in 1849—less than 26 years ago—and then comprised a line of single track between Harrisburg and Pittsburg On the first of January last it owned and controlled [illegible],934 miles of which its trunk line, between Philadelphia and Pittsburg had three tracks laid with steel rails and bridges all of iron and stone

The total capital of the lines owned and controlled by the Pa R R Co was $598,267,675 and the average net income of all these lines was $25,476,290, or 6 4-10 per cent. on this vast sum Many of this great network of roads paid no interest on their cost of construction—some were run at an absolute loss but the average was as above stated, which shows that if one large company had not been in control, the result would have been a lot of small bankrupt companies and many of these would not even yet have been built The Legislature of the State granted a charter to build 243 miles of road which has resulted in this company building 1,656 miles within the commonwealth of Pennsylvania the main line as above stated being a treble track with steel rails

Ten years ago, or in 1864, the number of tons moved one mile over the main line was 420,627,222, at a cost 1 87-100 cents per mile, in 1873 there were 1,384 831 970 tons moved at a cost of 887-1000 cents per mile, or a reduction in expense of one half. This saving was in large part due to the substitution of steel for iron rails which last twelve times as long doing the same amount of work It enabled the company to reduce the charge for carrying freight from 2½ cents per ton per mile to 1 4-10 cents per mile This is equal to carrying wheat per 100 miles for 4½ cents per bushel

Among the assets held and owned by this great corporation are railroad stocks of other companies that it has assisted in building amounting at a cash valuation to $27,665,312, and bonds valued in cash at $19,246,050 The report of the committee shows that the assets of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company (this is the main line and exclusive of all branches) are worth $118,906,405 over and above its bonded and other indebtedness and deducting the capital stock issued to Dec. 31, 1873, leaves a surplus value of $50,310,240, making each share of stock represent $87 28 on a par of $50; and that each mile of single track represents a real value of $45,436 while on the company's books it shows but $19 728

Thirty years ago the growth of such a power within the limits of a commonwealth would have been considered inimical to the liberties of the people, but the [illegible] has hardly [illegible] the predictions of the prophets of evil [illegible] y miles of road have been built that otherwise could not have been constructed—millions of tons of freight, at a very low price per ton, [illegible] carried through the State to its commercial emporium where before there were only tens of th[illegible]nds, and it can hardly be truthfully said that the people of Pennsylvania are in thraldom or less independent than under the benign rule of the [illegible] of the age of Andrew Jackson It was only a year ago the people met in Constitutional Convention and prohibited [illegible] [illegible]panies from discriminating in the rate of freights and their issuing free [illegible] to any person whatsoever other than their own employees

The success of the Pennsylvania Railroad is mainly due to Th[illegible] Alexander Scott, now its President, but for many [illegible] its Vice President in name, although its chief executive in fact He started [illegible] has [illegible] the control of six th[illegible]d miles of railway and a power as great as the Federal Government before the late civil war He is [illegible] the foremost railway [illegible] in this c[illegible], and has [illegible] undoubted a genius for the management of [illegible] as Bismarck for diplomacy or Napoleon Bonaparte for war Mr Scott is th[illegible] years younger than Vanderbilt, and if he lives will [illegible] e [illegible] by [illegible] the great [illegible] that [illegible] in promoting the development of the republic

THE ALABAMA OUTRAGES

From present appearances it may yet turn out that this report of Congressman Hays, of Alabama, of outrages committed by the Conservatives of that State is an outrageous falsehood. When the report [illegible] first published it was met with a prompt and sweeping denial by the press of the State But that might be, and still the report be true. It would not be the first time in the history of this country of free speech, and especially in the South, that the majority of the local press has been used to [illegible] and mislead the public

Not so easily disposed of, however, is the reply of the Prosecuting Attorney of Marengo county. This is one of the counties in which the terrible outrages upon [illegible]publicans [illegible] alleged to have been committed, and Mr. Clarke, the Prose[illegible] Attorney, denies specifically the charges as to this and the adjoining county [illegible] And to prove his good faith he offers to submit the matter to the investigation of any good Republican who may be sent there for that purpose only asking that the person chosen for the investigation may be of good repute for honesty and truthfulness, and if the report of Hays is confirmed, by the Prosecuting Attorney, is to pay the entire expense of the investigating commission He makes this proposition through the New York Tribune, and as e[illegible] of his sincerity and [illegible]rity for the faithful performance of his part, he offers to deposit the money in advance

Mr Congressman Hays can hardly afford to ignore a specific denial of his statements coming from so respectable a source and accompanied by such a proposition Should he decline the proposed investigation, his course will be construed as an admission of the falsity of his report and considering the fact that the matter was sprung just at the eve of the fall elections, ground will not be wanting for a suspicion that these and other Southern troubles have been worked up by politicians in the interest of the Administration, and for the purpose of influencing public sentiment in favor of the Republican party

Meanwhile something beyond denials of outrages upon conservatives, has been brought out We do not propose to vouch for the truth of every word and syllable of the affirmative charges made on the other side but we think it altogether likely they require no greater allowance for coloring than Hays stories A Montgomery dispatch of the 6th inst. says

> A letter to The Advertiser from one of the most prominent citizens of Sumter county, says the United States Marshals are very actively engaged there Martial law in point of fact, exists in Sumter Houses are entered by United States soldiers without form or ceremony private property is taken and carried off without leave or license, and private citizens, against whom there is no shadow of a charge are arrested without warrant or process of law A few nights ago the whole body of the Democratic and Conservative Convention was put under arrest until a Deputy United States Marshal released them On the next night a squad of Federal soldiers went into the country and entered a house Not finding the owners at the house they took into their possession guns and pistols belonging to different parties At one of the houses which was in charge of a negro man who was sleeping in it with his little son they in attempting to surround it awoke the little boy who became frightened and started to run when he was shot at eight or nine times but whether he was wounded is not known
> On the next night Marshal Randolph with soldiers and a detective went to the house of one of the most quiet and respectable citizens and surrounded it When the owner got up in the morning he found that his premises were guarded all around As soon as he was dressed he opened the doors and Randolph's soldiers and detective came in The gentleman was ordered to cross his hands so that he could be handcuffed He demanded their authority for his arrest The United States Marshal significantly tapped his musket and remarked 'This is my authority' In another case an old man who had started early for the town was met by a squad of soldiers and a United States Marshal who told him he was out too early, arrested and held him several hours The Marshals appear surprised to find that there is no White League in the country

THE REGISTRATION ACT

A subject upon which all parties unite is the law for the registration of voters There is occasionally found an individual who objects to such a law upon some notion of the inconvenience of it, but these are few and represent no party or political organization It is strange that any person should make an objection on the ground of its being a hardship for a voter to go up and have his name registered within the prescribed time. There may be a dozen or more men in some of the thinly populated counties, who do not visit the county seat two or three times a year, though we doubt if there are so many and if their number were several times greater than it is, the argument would still have nothing in it Voting is not an end but a means the end being a choice by the lawful electors of the officers. It is less moment that a dozen or a hundred individuals who are so inattentive to their own rights and the public good as to neglect to comply with the law should be deprived of their vote on account of such neglect than that the elections should be open to such gross and irreparable frauds as are practiced in every State that has not a registry law Election laws are not made merely for the purpose of giving men an opportunity to vote, they are made to secure a just and fair expression of the popular will on the matter concerning which the vote is taken, and their first and paramount object should be the accomplishment of that result We trust the Senators who have yet to [illegible] on the registry act, will bear these [illegible] mind

[illegible]ington Chronicle has a lengthy [illegible] the question 'Is reconstruction a failure?' The only safe answer to this conundrum, in the light of recent events is that it is 'one of the things that no feller can tell'

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCT. 21, 1874.

CITY AND COUNTY.

A NEW KIND OF FURNACE.—Mr. J. H. Munk, for the Oregon Central Railroad, has invented a patent grate to be used in connection with a steam fire engine either of the Amoskeag—which proves to be of great importance to the [illegible]. The patent consists of a series of bars, four or five, parallel inside of a circular band of iron, which extend from side to side. At the end of each bar a shoulder is cut, which works in a small groove made in the band. Small pieces or arms of iron extend out at intervals from the cross bars, to which they are securely fastened. These arms are arranged in such a manner as not to strike each other, although they are made to almost touch. The cross bars are all attached to each other by connecting rods, which terminate in a handle similar to the one used to operate a brake on a fire engine. By moving the handle to and fro, the cross bars can be turned partially over, and the arms made to pass, much in the same manner as if the fingers of each hand were drawn through each other. The grates and the attachments being circular in form, can be fastened at the bottom of a fire engine, and serve as a furnace, the fire being built on the bars and the interlocking arms. It often becomes necessary when the fire is burning to shift the coal or wood from side to side, to make it burn more freely. When an inferior article of coal is being used, the furnace soon becomes filled with what is known as "clinckers," being nothing more than the uninflammable portions of the coal which melt and run together. If this is allowed to continue, the clinckers soon form a solid mass, and shut off the draft, and renders it impossible for the engineer to keep up the fire or steam. With the old furnace, the fireman is compelled to break the "clinckers" with a rod and haul them out. Not so with Mr. Munk's patent grate. All that is necessary is to move the handle connecting with the bars. A slight movement turns the bars, and the cross pieces break up the partially consumed coal, and cause it to drop on the ground. At any time the furnace can be emptied in an instant. By pulling the handle to its utmost distance, all the fire and coal will be "dumped" out in a twinkle. This is a feature of great service when the apparatus which provides for supplying the boiler with water gets out of order. All the fire can be thrown out, and the boiler saved from burning. The invention is certainly of great importance, as it is superior to any which we have seen. Among steam fire engines such a furnace will undoubtedly come into general service. Several weeks ago the Common Council authorized by resolution, the Committee on Fire and Water and Chief Engineer to cause new grates to be placed in two of the steam fire engines belonging to Columbia No. 3 and Willamette No. 1. It has since been determined to adopt the furnace above described. Messrs. Dilge [illegible] have the contract for manufacturing the two furnaces. Both will be finished in about two weeks from date. Mr. Munk, we learn, has applied for a patent.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.—Gen. Wm. Vandever, General Inspector of Indian Affairs for Oregon, California and Washington Territory, arrived on Monday from an inspecting tour of Eastern Oregon. This morning he will start for Washington Territory on a similar mission. Yesterday morning, Messrs. Laing and Smith, of the Board of Indian Commissioners, accompanied by Gen. O. O. Howard, started for the Sound country. The object of their visit is to call at the several Indian reservations in the Territory, and distribute the amount of goods, stores, etc., apportioned to the various agents. For the last week or more a number of agents for this State have been in the city, awaiting the distribution of goods [illegible] for the reservation, which [illegible] on the amount of [illegible] to each one. Messrs. Laing and [illegible] acting as purchasing agents [illegible] they have remained in the [illegible] have [illegible] by the [illegible] is on contract [illegible] responsible bidder, and will [illegible] in a few days. There are now [illegible] the following agents: P. B. Sinnott of Grand Ronde; Major Connoyer of [illegible]; Rev. J. H. Wilbur of Yakima; [illegible] Fairchild of Alsea; L. S. Dyar of Klamath; [illegible] of Malheur, and Capt. John [illegible] of Warm Springs. Mr. Fairchild, of [illegible] agency, is not in the city, but is [illegible] Mr. Wm. Chambers. These [illegible] only waiting for the distribution, [illegible] be on their way back to the reservations [illegible] as soon as it is made. [illegible] connected with the several [illegible] in Washington Territory are in [illegible]. Several came over a few [illegible] but could not wait for the Com[illegible] to make their purchases [illegible] a copy for each reservation [illegible] to the purchasing agents [illegible].

[illegible] THE CIVIL WAR.—A gentleman handed us the following reminiscence of the "late unpleasantness," clipped from an exchange. The story was told during the war, and after finding its way into [illegible] the rounds of the press. As [illegible] gentlemen who figures in the story [illegible] citizen-soldier of Portland, we republish the paragraph: "At Fair Oaks, while in the very tempest of death, with [illegible] lifted in command, Gen. O. O. Howard had his right arm carried away. That [illegible] and had suffered amputation, [illegible] spent and racked with pain in [illegible] which was to take him to Washington, [illegible] who had lost his left arm in [illegible] same, and, looking into the car, [illegible] 'Howard, old boy, I'm sorry for you—[illegible] my heart; but, Howard, I have [illegible] of something. When you get to [illegible] buy a pair of gloves; send me [illegible] the left for yourself, and I [illegible] with you, and hereafter we [illegible] economically.' And, turning [illegible] muttered: 'That is better for [illegible] and [illegible] Howard can beat [illegible].'

[illegible] ACCIDENT.—Mr. E. Budd, Superintendent of the Street Railway Company, met with [illegible] yesterday afternoon. He was [illegible] in putting some temporary [illegible] to [illegible] table at the northern [illegible] assisted by one of the railway employees, Mr. Budd [illegible] up the [illegible] table by means [illegible] the person assisting him and [illegible] slipped its hold and let the table [illegible] Mr. Budd, who was on the other [illegible] of the table prying away, was not expecting any accident, and handling his crowbar [illegible] carelessly. When the table fell it caused the end of the bar to fly [illegible], the end striking him a powerful [illegible] the chin. The blow drove his [illegible] cutting it severely in [illegible] him to expectorate considerable blood. His jaws and [illegible] also bruised by the blow. [illegible] immediately after [illegible] and [illegible] assistance summoned.

[illegible].—We have received a copy of Forest and Stream, a sporting journal published in New York, under date [illegible]. In the number before us, [illegible] from the pen of the writer J. Mortimer Murphy, who, we understand, has been employed to write up the zoology [illegible] Western Territories. The letter [illegible] one of a series which are to [illegible]. Mr. Murphy is [illegible] correspond with several English [illegible], also engaged in preparing for [illegible] on the climate, resources, [illegible] Northwestern Coast which is shortly [illegible].

[illegible].—For some time past the [illegible] tug-boat at Astoria, in consequence of being out of repair. Her owners finally concluded to have the tug placed in good condition, so as to be fit to [illegible]. These necessary repairs are being made at the Willamet Iron Works. She will be overhauled; also the machinery. A new propeller has already been made and is to be placed in.

[illegible].—We were misled in the item [illegible] in these columns yesterday [illegible] the competitive examination for [illegible] to a cadetship at West Point. [illegible] paragraph in question, it was stated [illegible] Dr. [illegible] Deady, Dr. R. Glisan and Dr. [illegible] A. J. Anderson's name should [illegible] in place of Dr. G[illegible].

RICH SILVER MINES.—Mr. D. L. Shoemaker, a well known individual of Portland, some days ago brought down from Fort Wrangell a small quantity of silver-bearing quartz. He gave the rock to Mr. Fisk, who submitted it to the assayist's usual test. This test proved most satisfactory, as the stone was found to average $1,000 to the ton. Mr. Shoemaker stated to several parties before the quartz was assayed, that he had discovered an extensive lode about six miles from Wrangell. After the test was made and it was ascertained that the rock was wonderfully rich with the precious argentiferous metal, Mr. Shoemaker maintained a discreet silence as to the locality, extent, etc., of the lode. On Monday morning he started overland to Victoria, at which place he will embark on the Otter for Fort Wrangell, doubtless being greatly elated with prospects of fabulous wealth which rise before his mental vision. Alas! all that glitters is not gold, and everything which is white is not silver.

PARALYTIC STROKE.—Mr. L. E. Pratt, of this city, received a paralytic stroke on Monday morning, in consequence of which he lost the use of his right side for some hours. He arose that morning in usual good health, washed himself and sat down to breakfast. While eating, he experienced a strange sensation on his right side. He paid no particular attention to the feeling and continued his meal. The sensation continued to increase and when Mr. Pratt rose from the table and started for his room, he fell helpless to the floor after taking a few steps. Dr. Chapman was summoned, who, by the vigorous application of hot water and mustard, established the circulation in the paralyzed portion of the body. In the course of a few hours, Mr. Pratt grew better and was able to take the express train for his home in Salem, on Monday afternoon. Nothing has been heard of his condition since his arrival there.

A HEAVY BLOW.—One of the men employed at the upper sawmill of the city had the misfortune to meet with a serious accident on Monday evening. He was engaged in running a piece of lumber through a small circular saw. A large sliver of the timber becoming detached was caught in the [illegible] of the saw and hurled some distance. The person [illegible] the saw happened to be standing in the way and received the stick on one side of the head. An ugly gash was cut in the scalp and it is feared that the skull is fractured. He was knocked insensible by the violent blow and remained unconscious for some time. Dr. Watkins was called and dressed the wound. The result of the injuries is somewhat doubtful. We are unable to obtain the unfortunate man's name.

MAP OF PORTLAND.—At the show window of G. A. Steel & Co., can be seen a handsomely executed map of Portland, East Portland and all the additions to the same. The map was drafted by Mr. W. S. Chapman, ex-City Surveyor. Dimensions of this map are 40x48 inches. It is one of the most correct maps of the cities of Portland and East Portland which has yet been drafted, having been compiled from the most recent surveys. Mr. Chapman has executed the map in the cleverest style of the art.

QUITE LOW.—We regret to state that the condition of Mr. S. B. Lake, who was so seriously injured on Monday afternoon, is still very precarious. The fracture of the right leg has been set, but it is feared that he is internally injured. He has the best medical attendance in the city, and everything is being done to alleviate his sufferings that is possible. It remains to be seen what the result of his injuries will be.

ENTERTAINMENT.—After the long dearth of public entertainments, our readers will be gratified to know that in two weeks there is one to be given, for the benefit of the Unitarian Church fund. It will probably be at Masonic Hall. An exhibition of Mrs. Jarley's Waxworks, and the Burlesque Pantomime "Lord Bateman," will form its main features.

INSANE—SUICIDE.—A man named Ferdinand Wetzel, committed suicide at Yreka, on the evening of the 18th inst. by hanging himself to a beam in the lumber shop of his brother. He was to have been taken to Stockton as insane. He had been an inmate of the asylum at East Portland, until about a year ago, when he was released as sane.

TO GOOD TEMPLARS.—W. R. Dunbar, G. W. C. T. of I. O. G. T. of Oregon, has arrived in town and will meet with the members of the Order at the Hall of Nonpareil Lodge, corner of Madison and First streets, this evening. All resident and visiting members are requested to attend.

SOCIABLE.—The ladies of the Congregational Church will hold a sociable in the lecture room to-morrow (Wednesday) evening for the benefit of the Musical Fund. A cordial invitation is extended the public.

AMUSEMENTS.

There is now on exhibition in this city a most singular and wonderful freak of nature—the Spotted or Leopard Boy. Mr. Hoberg, the proprietor of this combination, arrived in town yesterday, and now has this wonderful being on exhibition on Washington street, between Front and First. This astonishing specimen of humanity is well worth going to see. There is also on exhibition Miss Matilda Sanvill, a liliputian lady, 18 years of age, and only 31 inches in height.

"Dot, the Cricket on the Hearth," was produced at Oro Fino Theater to a full house. To our view the play was very much changed, some portions of it being scarcely recognizable. In the main the play was very well produced, and gave the audience general satisfaction. Miss Stone personated "Dot," Mrs. Phelps, "Bertha, the Blind Girl;" W. C. Dudley, "John Perrybingle;" H. F. Stone, "Caleb Plummer;" E. J. Crowell, "Griff Tackleton;" D. Belasco, The "Stranger;" Wm. Simms, "Tilly Slowboy;" Miss Morgan, "May Fielding;" Minnie Pixley, "Mrs. Fielding." The entertainment closed with a very ludicrous farce, in which appeared Mrs. Phelps, Miss Pixley, Miss Morgan, and Messrs. Crowell, Dudley and Simms. An excellent programme will be offered this evening, consisting of "Wild Meg, or Broken Vows," and concluding with the laughable farce of "Andy Blake."

A small audience was in attendance at the Museum last evening to witness the performances of Prof. Rice, the "mind-reader." He was subjected to many very difficult tests by various persons in the audience, and in every instance gave the correct answer. The mode of testing the Professor's wonderful powers is to select some object and fix your mind firmly upon it; the Professor then places the two first fingers of your right hand upon his forehead, and moves directly to the object which engages your attention and places your hand in contact with it. Perhaps the most difficult test to which the Professor was subjected last night was in the case of a gentleman in the audience who selected a nail in the wall as the subject of his thought. After many individual tests the Professor proposed that a committee of three retire from the room and agree upon some object. The committee selected a Chinese sword, hanging upon the walls of the Museum-room—the Professor meanwhile remaining in the lecture-room. One of the committee was then subjected to the Professor's manipulations, and to the surprise of the committee and audience was led directly to the object. This evening the Professor will illustrate his powers in another direction, by writing on a blackboard any word or sentence upon which the auditor may fix his mind. We can cheerfully recommend our readers to attend upon this occasion as they will be amply repaid by the illustrations of the Professor's wonderful gift. From 9 to 11 A. M., and from 2 to 4 P. M., the Professor will be in attendance at the lecture-room of the Museum, when any person may have an opportunity of making a test of his powers. Go and see him, and test the matter for yourself as to his ability to read your thoughts in this most wonderful manner. No other persons with the same power has ever visited our State or Coast.

THE TURF.

There will be a trotting race, free to all, two mile heats, for a purse of $100, over the White House track, on Oct. 22d. A purse of $75 will be given—to be trotted for—on Saturday, Oct. 24th, free to all horses that have not trotted in a race during the meeting. On Friday, Oct. 23d, there will be a running race, single dash of one mile and sweepstakes, $50 entrance, free to all horses. A purse of $50 will be added by the proprietor.

MORTALITY PREVENTED.

It would be a moderate estimate to place the number of cases in which Consumption is prevented by the timely use of HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR, at ten thousand per annum. No cough, cold, bronchial affection, sore throat, or other ailment of the organs of respiration, can ever degenerate into a mortal disease, if this palatable and absolutely infallible specific be taken in time and long enough persevered in.

PIKE'S TOOTH-ACHE DROPS Cure in one minute.

Trumpery Tonics.

Moderation in the use of stimulants, like the avoidance of all excesses, is unquestionably praiseworthy and life-prolonging. All sensible persons admit this. But the vendors of non-alcoholic slops, desirous of undermining the reputation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in order to sell their own worthless trash, have thought fit to go to the length of denouncing as baneful in the extreme all invigorants containing spirits. Now the very reverse of this is the case, the fact being that no vegetable bitters entirely devoid of alcohol are worth a rush, that being the one ingredient which prevents the decomposition and souring of the others. Probably no one knows better than you, Messieurs the Trumpery Tonic Vendors, that the perfectly pure liquor used to dissolve the botanic constituents of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the very best medium that could have been selected to facilitate and confirm the invigorating, protective and remedial action of the great stomachic.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY OFFERED

For the relief of the afflicted.

The Surgeons of the NATIONAL SURGICAL INSTITUTE will visit the Pacific Coast on the 15th day of November, and remain until the 15th day of December, 1874—one month—at their old building, No. 319 Bush street, between Kearny and Montgomery, San Francisco.

This is a chance for help which every sufferer should take advantage of. The hundreds of patients treated by them during their former visits, are all rapidly being benefitted and cured. They treat successfully all cases of Paralysis; all deformities of the Face, Spine and Limbs; Diseased Joints; Diseased Eyes and Ears; Catarrh; Private Diseases; Diseases of Females; Piles, Fistula, etc. No hopeless cases are undertaken, and it really does seem as if no cases are hopeless in the hands of these skillful surgeons.

They are preparing all the machinery necessary for the Swedish Movement Cure; Medicated Baths; Machinery to equalize the circulation, restore Paralyzed Limbs, etc.; and a much finer outfit of braces and appliances, than heretofore. All who commence treatment during this visit, and the many hundreds now under treatment, will have the advantages of all these most effectual means of cure; besides, some of the surgeons will this time remain to continue their treatment.

Remember the time and place, and come as early in the month as possible, thus getting the full benefit of their visit.

The fall season has fairly set in, and with it our merchants are opening their new stocks in large quantities. Among those who have prepared for the rush, we find those well known clothiers, Beck & Waldman, who are not behind any in their selections of fall and winter goods. They have studied the present wants of customers, and accordingly have purchased at the lowest figure, with the object of affording their patrons the greatest advantages. Boys' clothing is a specialty with this house, and parents should note the fact.

Don't pay high prices for Hats while they can be obtained at a reasonable figure. Among the latest additions to the stock of JOHN O'NEIL & Co., Clothiers, is a complete line of Hats for the fall and winter season. They propose to sell them cheaper than the same have been offered heretofore in this city. When you need a new tile bear this in mind. The high scale of prices are played out, and O'NEIL & Co. can prove it. They are opening some new styles in Hats and Clothing. Make a note of it before it is too late.

NEW ATTRACTIONS.—Very few are acquainted with the fact that JOS. KOHN, opposite the First National Bank, has just opened a magnificent assortment of Clothing and Furnishing Goods. None can but admire the handsome Diagonals, the beautiful Beaver Suits, the attractive Cassimeres and other goods now displayed at his large and elegant store. He, as well as his clerks, are accommodating, and will gratify the tastes of all who may chance to call. Mr. Kohn can please you; that is morally certain. Now is the time to purchase a full suit.

I DESIRE TO FURNISH MY TESTIMONY in behalf of Dr. Jayne's excellent medicine, the Expectorant. I have been troubled with Asthma for over two years, and it became so bad last fall and winter, that I could not walk over twenty rods without sitting down to rest; neither could I perform work of any kind. If I chopped wood briskly for five minutes, I would fall down for want of breath, so firmly had the disease taken hold of me. Finally, I was persuaded to try the Expectorant, and procuring a bottle from Messrs Hawley & Eichell, of this place, I commenced using it. After taking in all four bottles, I am now able to do as much work in a day as any man in my neighborhood and my complaint has entirely left me. Therefore I cordially recommend this Expectorant to any one troubled with Asthma.—HORACE CHEDLEY, Fitchburg, Mich.

GRAND EXPOSITION

OF

NEW GOODS,

At the Store of

BRADLEY, MARSH & CO.,

Extensive Shipments to Arrive

EX "JOHN L. STEPHENS" AND "AJAX."

THE FOLLOWING LETTER, FROM MR. MARSH, who is now purchasing in the San Francisco market, will explain itself:

GRAND HOTEL, 7th October, 1874.

[illegible]: Arrived safely, having had fair average passage. Set at once to work. First called on ——. Paid them $2,500 on account. Got 3 per cent discount on $1,150 not yet due. Mr. —— seemed well pleased; said they had heard rather unfavorable accounts of us from Portland merchants; going ahead too fast; selling goods too low; ruined the trade, etc. Explained the [illegible] of such statements. Wanted to call round on the other houses before [illegible], but Mr. —— wou'd not let me stir—so started in and bought a splendid lot of [illegible] at [illegible] low prices. Cleared out 63 pieces of English waterproof and ladies' cloth at 85c—regular price $1 20. These we must sell at $1 per yard and beat the wholesale houses; they can't touch them at that figure. There is a temporary decline in cotton goods, so secured 16 cases leading brands muslins and sheetings. Selling these, as usual, at cost will give us a splendid advantage over all the other stores. Got a fine lot Bed-spreads 20 per cent. under regular price. In Blankets I made a special hit. The house had 12 bales on consignment, and being agents for the —— mills, did not wish to exhibit them in competition. Bought the lot. You may think this rather stiff but when you see the splendid quality of these goods you will at once concede this a magnificent purchase. Mark them low, and make a noise. Do not let the country storekeepers gobble all these up, as they did the last cheap lot; keep them for our regular customers. Got two job lines in Dress Goods to sell at 25@37½c per yard—30 per cent. less than cost of importing. Secured two original cases of the Buffalo brand silk warp Alpacas at agent's rates. These range in price from 25c to $1. The time is past with us for buying a piece or two. Cleared out several job lines in Flannels, Table Linen, Napkins, Towels etc., all very low. Also several other goods that can best be purchased at this house. Dined and wined with Mr. ——. Splendid house; magnificently furnished. Met ——.

Tuesday—Called early on ——. Paid our account in full. Same story as to reports. The facts, the ——, evidently, "went for us" in very blackness of heart, but our name is a tower of strength that the shot of accident nor dart of chance can neither graze nor pierce. The robbed that smiles steals [illegible] at these [illegible] this road on the rough road of life. The heavy cash remittances we make regularly stun them all here. They say the Portland men are generally "long winded." Our getting the Granger trade is also a surprise to many. Purchased a fine lot of Shawls, Hosiery, Men's Shirts, Pants, Ladies' Merino Vests, Woolen Jackets, Trimmings, and all fancy goods at this house. They were most anxious to sell, and as they made considerable reductions in prices, I bought largely. Send you invoices overland. Goods go by John L. Stephens. The shipment from England will arrive by next Panama steamer. The Clothing, Hats, etc., from New York come by rail. When all these are opened out our stock will be the finest on the coast. Will back us up to any extent. He knows we possess the powers ordained to last. His business has doubled this year. This is truly a Golden State, with its golden mines, golden grain and the golden wealth of living manhood and womanhood pouring in at the rate of three hundred daily from all parts of the civilized and uncivilized world. Would that we had railroads to enable us to share this prosperity. S. L. MARSH.

LOOKING BACK.

BY LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON.

I may live long, but some old days
 [illegible]
Some suns that set on woodland ways
 Will never rise for me again;
By shining sea and glad, green shore
 That frolic waves ran home to kiss,
Some words I hear that nevermore
 Will thrill me with their wonted bliss.

O love! still in thy living heart—
 You have not crossed death's sullen tide,
A [illegible] deep holds us apart;
 We were more near if you had died—
If you had died in those old days,
 When light was on the shining sea,
And all the fragrant woodland ways
 Were paths of hope for you and me.

Dead leaves are in those woodland ways—
 Cold are the lips that used to kiss;
'Twere idle to recall those days,
 Or sigh for all that vanished bliss!
Do you still wear your old-time grace,
 And charm more loves with ancient wiles?
Could I but watch your faithless face,
 I'd know the meaning of your smiles.

[illegible] ITEMS.

At Cambridge, England, the public became so deeply interested in a domestic drama that they were not satisfied at the fall of the curtain to see the villain of the piece mounting the [illegible]. They wanted the curtain up again to see him hanging, and they made a row about it.

A few days ago, two daughters, aged 6 and 10, of Mrs. Burner, who keeps a hotel at Columbus, Ky., were burned to death by a discharged servant named Bridget Mahoney. She saturated the bed and mosquito bar with coal oil, and deliberately fired them. The house and most of the furniture was destroyed. The fiend was arrested.

The Mobile Register asks of the Cincinnati Enquirer: "Isn't it about time that a Democratic paper is established in Cincinnati under the editorship of men who are not idiots?" To which the New York Commercial Advertiser answers: "Judging the party there by its platform of repudiation, we should say that the thing is about right as it is."

A severe earthquake shock occurred in Antigua, Guatemala lately, by which thirty-two lives were lost. It is said that in the midst of the horrors, bands of men, armed with long knives, appeared on the streets, bent upon robbery and [illegible]. Antigua has twice been destroyed by earthquakes, the last time in 1773, when all the magnificent churches and public buildings were left in ruins. The city then had sixty thousand inhabitants, most of whom fled and never returned. The capital was removed to Gautemala, and Antigua has never been wholly rebuilt.

Barnum's [illegible] traveling hippodrome went up to [illegible]. A terrific windstorm burst upon the hippodrome and in an instant every inch of canvas covering the amphitheater proper, the [illegible] the hotel, the dressing rooms, side shows, etc., with the poles sustaining the canvas, was carried up in the air, making a much more rapid ascent than ever Prof Donaldson [illegible] of making. The force of the wind was so great that the canvas, with the 350 quarter poles which were jerked from the earth, were [illegible] in the trees on the north of the enclosure.

A correspondent writes from Nebraska: "It has been our lot this season to have all our crops destroyed by the grasshoppers, and consequently they have left us to the mercy of those who have plenty and some to spare. We wish to notify the public of our destitution in Western Nebraska, that those who are able and willing may contribute to our wants. We commenced early in the spring to plow and sow, and we worked as busily as bees until too late to plant. Our crops looked well, considering the dry weather we had the early part of the season; but, alas! the grasshoppers came and destroyed all, and now here we are on our claims. We must have help or leave them. We wish to stay, and we feel assured that timely aid will reach us, that our families will not [illegible] the coming winter, and trusting in Providence, we will sow more acres the coming spring."

Economy has taken a rather sensational form in New York, and strangers, especially women, are said to pour and pore over the peculiar circumstance that the corner of Hudson and Canal streets is a spot "Sacred to the memory of Mary Prout, who departed this life March 1, 1845. Aged — years, 5 months, 1 day. R. I. P." Why this particular spot should have been dedicated to Mary Prout they will be unable to guess. A little further they will find another spot sacred to the memory of some other descendant of a past generation. Were [illegible], with pick and shovel, to upturn every paving in the neighborhood, they would find that the whole sidewalk was sacred to the memory of scores of worthies regarding whom history is mournfully silent. But the neighborhood is not a graveyard. It is merely a monument of church thrift and economy. The tombstones were originally over graves in St. John's churchyard, and had been removed by the Trustees of Trinity Church to a vacant lot. As the paving was done by the Trustees, this being church property, the marble slabs were utilized. The laborers were instructed to lay the stones face downward, but, for the sake of mischief, disregarded the orders in some instances. Hence the startling suggestion of Mary Prout's interment where cross-roads meet. It is said that nearly all the pavement of property owned by Trinity has [illegible] paid by sorrowing relatives who have consecrated its slabs to the memory of the dear departed.—Chicago Tribune.

A LIVELY WOMAN ON THE TRAPEZE.—Says a correspondent of the Hudson Democrat: I saw it at the Front Street Theater. It was a woman who did it. She had been doing everything on the trapeze, way up in the top of the [illegible], 30 feet above the stage. She had wheeled around one trapeze so rapidly that [illegible] and a glittering hoop, and [illegible] her hands, had flew ten feet through the air to [illegible], and at last she [illegible] down and stood upon the stage directly under and 30 feet below the ropes and bars where she had lately [illegible] performing.

She seemed about 18, was dressed in the circus [illegible] and showed a firm, compact (though slight) and graceful figure. Her face [illegible]. Her feet were close together, her hands by her side, the body inclined a little forward. I noticed also that she winked rapidly as if she was expecting a blow.

Under her feet was what seemed to be a round spot upon the stage, darker in color, [illegible] to stand upon.

While I was looking at her there came a crash, and she disappeared. I did not see her go anywhere, but found her directly upon the trapeze.

She had been shot from a powerful spring, 30 feet directly upwards, with the velocity of a bullet from a gun, and had caught upon the trapeze above.

EDNA DEAN PROCTOR'S BROTHER.—There is a good deal of backing down respecting the intimations regarding the fair fame of Miss Edna Dean Proctor. In an interview with her counsel Moulton manifested considerable uneasiness and an [illegible] to shelter himself behind the fact of not having mentioned the lady's name in his [illegible]. The cause of his sudden tenderness is just now leaking out. It seems Miss Proctor has found an able defender in a brother, an officer in the regular army, who has been down on the frontier for the past seven years, and, it is said, has shot more Indians than any other man in the service. This formidable champion has arrived in season to protect his sister from further slander, and says if she has any fighting to be done he is on hand to do it. All his brother officers are urging him to bloody retaliation, and it was asserted yesterday morning, on a rumor that he had come to New York, not only Moulton, but the entire Graphic staff, including the fighting editor, vanished. At any rate a rather stout individual with a light overcoat was seen about 10 A. M. making rapid tracks for a railway station from that direction.—Baltimore American, October 3d.

[illegible], says a correspondent, what I saw not long ago at a circus. Sitting in front of us was General Sherman, and with him quite a number of children whom he had gathered from the "byways and hedges." We saw him look down under the seat, and then haul out a dirty, little [illegible] darkey, who had crept under the tent, and seat him at his feet, where, by crowding, was made a place for the little rascal. "Now," said the General, "sit there, my boy, and see everything. Bless me, many a time have I done the same thing, and many a thrashing have I had." He seemed so like a child; everything pleased him, and we wondered where was the vanity of which the people talked so loudly.

THE REPUBLIC.

Here is what the Chicago Tribune says of the new Republican organ of New York:

The first number of the new Republican daily paper of New York—The Republic—made its first appearance, according to promise, Monday morning. It frankly declares that its chief raison d'être is to give the Administration an unqualified support, after which it proposes to enter the competing ramifications of modern journalism. If its purposes had changed positions, and the news had been given the first place with the support of the Administration as secondary, the outlook would have been better. As it is, the first number looks as though it had been issued before its managers had got "a good ready," though there are indications of an intention to gather the news of this continent in preference to the news of Europe, Asia, and Africa, in which respect it may set its New York contemporaries a good example. It is said, on the one hand, that the paper is backed by plenty of money and influence; on the other, that its existence will be largely determined by the results of the fall elections, and that, in the event of a successful issue for the Republicans, it will attach itself to the fortunes of Gen. Grant for a third term. In any event, its managers will be sure to discover that newspaper success depends upon newspaper enterprise and ability, and not upon organ-grinding. Meanwhile, the paper has been received in New York without any particular malice, and we wish it all the success it may rightfully earn.

Rhode Island lost $18,000 worth of property by fires last month, according to the Boston Journal. The total loss in the New England States was $1,074,700, Connecticut and Massachusetts losing $925,000 of this amount.

A fair degree of activity is noted in monetary circles to-day. The general tone of the market remains about as last reported, being quiet and comfortable to customers, while outsiders find some difficulty in placing [illegible].

An Eastern exchange says: "The past year has been one of liquidation, and it would be surprising if there were not a good many failures. That there has been so few is surprising and shows that when the railroad bubble burst one year ago the mercantile community were in an exceptionally sound condition.

"Whatever failures occur they will be the results of causes reaching back to the time of the panic. So far as the business of this season has been concerned it has been safely and prudently conducted. There has been no expansion of credits and business never rested on a safer basis so far as credits are concerned."

The country as a whole has had good crops and all the elements of prosperity are present.

Trade in [illegible] and the aggregate volume of business was perhaps the largest of any day for [illegible] continue [illegible] movement [illegible] more active with an advance of [illegible] cents [illegible] in coffees and [illegible] in good [illegible] also in good [illegible] supply of hog [illegible] to last [illegible] or large [illegible] not heavy.

The [illegible] in dry goods, boots and shoes, &c., report a [illegible] trade without marked change from the features of the market previous [illegible] movement in staple [illegible] below the average of former years, although the trade partakes very generally of a jobbing character.

San Francisco Shipping News.

The Commercial Herald, of the 15th inst., says:

During the first nine months of the year there have entered port 8,001 vessels of 1,048,087 tons register and for the same period of 1873 there were 2,563 [illegible] of 983,900 tons. More particular details of this tonnage movement will be found in our statistical tables. At this date we have considerable disengaged tonnage in port seeking, while several ships holding charters at high freights are on demurrage. The last engagement for wheat to Cork for orders was at £3 5s, but at this date an iron ship can be had for less money. To a direct port in the United Kingdom £3 is an outside rate, and one which no [illegible] will warrant. The details which follow tell the whole story of the week. The steamship Vasco de Gama for China and Japan, [illegible] the 17th inst., will carry 1,800 tons flour; the freight on same $5 ꝑ ton of 100 tons or less, and for large lots $5 ꝑ ton. The steamship Salvador for ports in Central America, hence the 27th inst., will carry about 300 tons flour. The ship Edith for New York will carry 600 tons barley at $14@15 ꝑ ton. Barks J. W. Seaver, 290, and David Hoadley, 1069, return to the coasting trade.

Produce Market.

A rather quieter condition of affairs seems to prevail in this department to-day—wheat remaining unchanged at $1 30@1 35 ꝑ cental, with continued large receipts, 300 tons reaching here by the east side road alone to-day, besides average lots from the west side and by boat. In oats there is no change; choice lots bring 42c ꝑ bushel. Bacon and lard are firm at advanced rates, with but little offering. Butter and eggs in brisk demand, the former quotable for good roll at 30c ꝑ lb, and the latter the same [illegible], but [illegible] articles are likely to decline shortly. Other products are unchanged from our quotations last given.

In regard to the leading staples, wheat and flour, one can hear [illegible] rumors on the streets, but many of them show no reliability, rendering them worthy of publication, and are often contradictory in themselves. Among some that have gained pretty extensive circulation is one that the owners of some three or four [illegible] here, disengaged, will enter the market and purchase cargoes for these vessels, rather [illegible] charter them at current figures. Another report is that the parties chartering one of the vessels in port have notified the [illegible] by telegraph from San Francisco that they cannot load the vessel and will give up the charter.

Shipping Intelligence.

The barkentine Melancthon is completing her cargo for San Francisco at the North Portland mills.

The Beulah, loading for Europe, is about ready to drop down the river with 700 tons of wheat for Europe. She will take on 300 tons more at some point below.

The ships City of Dublin and the Sarah Scott are discharging ballast and getting ready to load.

The barkentine Jane A. Falkinburg, hence for Honolulu, arrived at her destination September 25th.

The steamship Oriflamme, from San Francisco, about due, had not arrived up to a late hour this evening.
